

Football Gala Report July 2010.

1.0. Historic Background.

In 2008, three young men, Dirk Boeinghoff (nick named Cappello), Timm Barkam and Godfrey Tebandeke initiated charity support to teams and young people in Uganda by providing sports equipments; this was done informally based on their contacts in Germany. Since then they have continued soliciting support of a similar kind for the benefit of children and youths in Uganda, as a result they attracted friends in Germany who voluntarily joined them in this noble cause. Consequently this initiative was registered in Germany.

This year Trikots for Uganda was officially launched in Uganda by organizing a series of football galas involving local teams (soccer academies and schools) and first Division Clubs.

This year Trikots for Uganda was also able to support both volley ball and net ball teams, though it uses football as the main outreach tool.

2.0. Objectives of the report.

2.1. To provide an account of what happened during the football galas.

2.2. To out line the achievements of Trikots for Uganda

2.3. To suggest recommendations for Trikots for Uganda future work in Uganda

3.0. What Happened

The football galas attracted approximately 120 teams that officially registered, during the galas only 105 teams participated in different categories namely; under 12, 15, 20 and women teams (see attached list).

The format of play was five players aside; each game lasted for 20 minutes, 10 minutes per each half.

The field of play was divided in four smaller pitches, each of the smaller field was designated a group during the preliminary stage of each football gala.

Quarter finals were played between two winning teams from each group. Semi-finals and finals were played accordingly.

The winners in each age category were as follows.

Under 12 category (3rd July 2010).

Kamwokya Islamic Primary School- Winner.

Uganda Youth Soccer Academy - 1st Runners Up.

Under 20 category (4th July 2010).

4.0. Achievements

The event was generally a success, and below are the achievements we realised;

- Trikots for Uganda was on the 3rd day of July 2010 officially launched.
- The football governing body in Uganda (FUFA) fully supported this 4-day soccer event.
- Community members fully participated with a lot of commitment especially in mobilizing other members.
- A data bank of teams' records (telephone contacts and administrators) was developed.
- All injuries obtained during the course of the event were well managed by the medical team.
- Ghost teams were identified and prevented from walking away with a kit.
- Distribution of kits was well handled.
- Organizers fulfilled their assigned duties.
- All media houses were praising the work well done in developing young talents.
- Screening of players' was effectively done by the technical team.
- An evaluation was efficiently conducted which unearthed important issues such as project continuity
- This event attracted over and above the target number of teams we expected who competed in different age categories (Under 12, 15 and 20years).

5.0. Recommendations

1. To establish a coordinating team that will facilitate the proper implementation of activities in future.
2. To design official tags for the organizers for easy identification.
3. The coordinating team should carry out on-going monitoring to track usage of the kits.
4. Mainstream HIV awareness within Trikots for Uganda activities
5. Trikots for Uganda should consider organising holiday tournaments in different age categories to enable teams maximumally utilize the kits provided to them.
6. Trikots for Uganda should acquire their own movable goal posts readily useable during the galas and tournaments.
7. Enhance the capacity of local football coaches through training.
8. Based on the felt needs Trikots for Uganda should consider mobilising other football equipments for example cones, footballs, bibs, training sticks, hurdles and coaching boards.
9. Trikots for Uganda should consider development of a mobile football school. This initiative will open doors for more young people to benefit in Kampala and other communities across Uganda.

6.0. Lessons learnt.

1. Reward is a key motivational factor in the development of young football talents in Uganda.
2. The provision of Kits has opened doors for Kamwokya as a community to be recognised in regard to football.

7.0. Conclusion

In summary the event was a success in spite being of being the first of its kind. It attracted the involvement of schools, women teams, soccer academies and 1st Division Clubs. Thanks to all the participants, German development partners, local leaders and the organizers that worked so hard to ensure that this activity is a success.
